

1. Fold your white 9x12 construction paper in half from bottom to top (hamburger style).

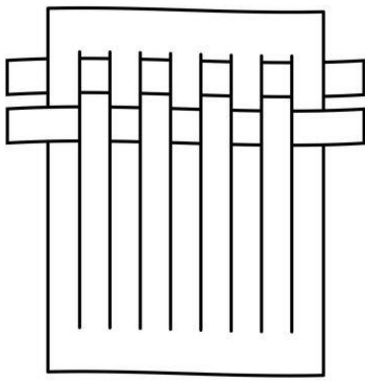

2. Make 8 evenly spaced dots along the folded edge.

3. Cut the 8 slits starting from the dot and working up towards the opened edge. Be careful to stop about 1 inch before you reach the opened edge.

4. Carefully open you paper.

5. Using 1 inch wide strips of your green, yellow and blue construction paper, insert it under the first bar, over the second bar, under the third bar, and so on until it's through all the bars.

6. For the next strip, do the opposite. Start by inserting the strip over the first bar, under the second bar, over the third bar, and so on until it's through all the bars.

7. Repeat the first two rows until you run out of space.

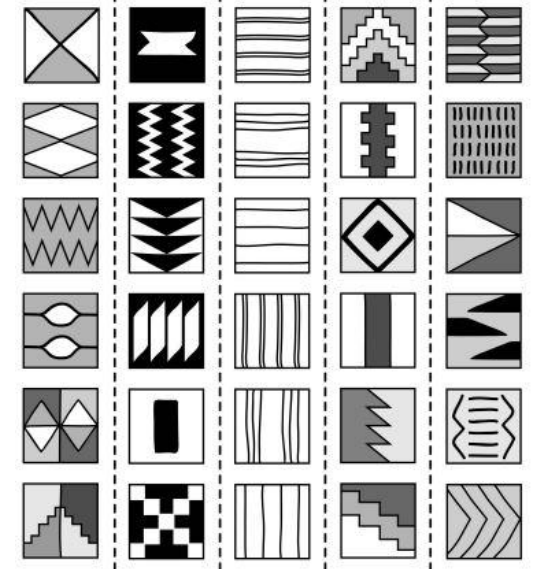

8. Wrap any extra pieces of the strips to the backside and glue them down.
